PROBE RUINS FOR MISSING

Seven Tenants of Cleveland Apartment Reported Unaccounted For.

SIXTH BODY RECOVERED

Investigators Working on Theory Fire Was of Incendiary Origin.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND June 8—Firemen were still searching for bodies today in the blackened tons of steel and brick that remained of the Ellington apartment destroyed by fire with an unknown loss of life.

The body of the sixth victim of the Ellington Apartments fire was recovered late today. The body was that of a man unidentified and so badly burned as to be almost unrecognizable.

A fifth body badly charred was recovered earlier in the day but seven tenants were still unlocated more than 24 hours after the terrific explosion and fire which gutted the building early yesterday.

The fifth body recovered was tentatively identified as that of Mrs Clara Withers about 65.

Probe Disaster

Authorities said the list of missing might be incomplete since there was no way of knowing how many visitors were in the building a six story structure.

Fire Chief James E Granger and Safety Director Frank J Merrick announced they were investigating the disaster on the theory it was of incendiary origin.

Ray L Turk 39 part owner of the American Beauty and Barber Supply Co where Granger and Merrick said the explosion evidently occurred voluntarily gave a statement in which he said there was a small quantity of alcohol in the basement used by his firm in making hair tonics. The barber supply concern was one of the many business places in the street floor.

Gas Theory Discounted

Officials said they did not believe gas caused the blaze.

One hundred and twenty men were digging in the debris but it was believed it would take another day or two for them to finish and definitely established how many perished.

A revised and official casualty list showed that besides the missing and dead eight had been seriously injured and 16 received minor injuries.

PUBLIC WORKS BONDS GIVEN COMMITTEE OK

Senate Group Approves Democratic Proposal for Half Billion Issue.

GARNER BILL IN SENATE

Speaker's Proposal Gets Almost Solid Party Vote To Carry 216 to 182

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8 — The Democratic unemployment relief bill providing for a $500 000 000 public works bond issue was approved today by the senate banking committee.

The bill also provides for increasing the borrowing paper of the Reconstruction corporation by $1 500 000 000 for loans on self liquidating construction projects.

The committee voted however to eliminate provisions for loans to competing private industries.

President Hoover has opposed the Democratic proposal for a $500-000 000 bond issue but has approved in principle the remainder of the program.

Ok Separate Bill

The committee yesterday approved as a separate bill the Democratic proposal for a $300 000 000 fund for loans to states in destitution and an attempt was to be made in the senate today to get an agreement for its consideration.

The senate committee voted seven to four in favor of the Democratic Wagner bill including the bond issue program. It agreed to cut out of the Wagner bill provision for loans to limited housing corporations.

Provisions was retained in the bill for allocation of $40 000 000 from the Reconstruction corporation for financing agricultural exports.

Garner Bill Passed Up

While considering the various relief measures the committee gave no consideration to the gigantic bill sponsored by Speaker Garner which passed the house yesterday.

Meanwhile the chairman of the house rules committee today told the house he would call up the administration's home loan discount bank bill for consideration Friday.

The home loan bank bill is one of the important proposals of President Hoover's relief program. It would create from eight to 12 banks with a capitalization of not less than $5 000 000 each.

The Garner plan was put through the house by an almost solid Democratic vote with the aid of some insurgent Republicans. The roll call showed 216 for it 182 against. Bound by agreement in party caucus to support the bill all Democrats but 10 supported the speaker.

Republicans Opposed

Heeding President Hoover's denunciation of the bill as a gigantic pork barrel' all but 21 of the Republicans voted against it. Though the outcome was inevitable they tried but lost before this an attempt to recommit the bill and have the President's relief program substituted for that of the speaker. The latter involving a total outlay of $2 300,000 000 calls for $100 000 000 to be given outright by the federal government in relief of destitution $1 000 000 000 expansion of the Reconstruction corporation and $1 200 000 000 of public works the money to be secured by a bond issue based on a gasoline tax.

ECONOMY BILL NEAR POINT OF APPROVAL

Reduction in Allowances of War Veterans Eliminated from Measure

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8 —The senate's drive to balance the budget carried the national economy bill to the point of passage today.

Much reduced by yesterday's striking out of $16 600 000 in savings which were to have been obtained by cutting war veterans allowances the measure's estimated total of economies in government outlays stood at the beginning of today's session at $156 000 000.

Only one more attempt to substitute President Hoover's furlough plan for the flat 10 per cent cut in government salaries faced the senate before it could pass the bill and end it back to the house for conference. This was proposed by Senator La Follette Republican of Wisconsin who hoped to muster a few more votes than were cast for it yesterday and thus approve it. It was rejected 41 to 36.

Rejection of the entire section affecting veterans came at the conclusion of yesterday session and it was done by the overwhelming vote of 62 to 14 after members of the committee sponsoring the bill told the senate the plan was not practicable at this time.

The house too rejected this economy.

Banks Will Collect New Federal Levy on Checks

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8—Collection of the two cent tax on checks drafts and similar instruments which goes into effect on June 21 will cause no inconvenience to bank depositors of the country but will be handled entirely by the banks.

The internal revenue bureau said today the banks would pay the tax to the treasury at the end of each month. During the period the banks will keep count of the number of checks drawn by each depositor and at the end of the month enter the charge against his account and enclose a statement in the depositor's cancelled checks. Counter checks which are cashed by the depositor at the bank are not taxed.

The new postal rates go into effect next month. The higher rates on second class mail become effective on July 1 while the three-cent rate on first class mail is effective July 6.

While the regulations will not be completed for some time, those applying to the taxes that become effective June 21 will be promulgated before that time. Most of the new excise taxes are levied upon the manufacturer and will be collected from that source.

DRIVEN AWAY FROM OHIO MINE

Women Strike Sympathizers in Guernsey County Put Up Hard Fight.

BATTLE SHERIFF'S AIDS

Finally Dispersed by Gas Bombs from O. N. G. Plane.

By The Associated Press

CAMBRIDGE, O., June 8.—Routed by an Ohio national guard airplane after a hand to hand clash with deputy sheriffs of Guernsey county a group of women pickets were dispersed at Harriett mine near here and two women were arrested. The sheriff arrested [illegible] men pickets when the lines re-formed today and stones were hurled at working miners.

The clash with women pickets occurred late yesterday when Sheriff Thomas F Gracey and his deputies attempted to arrest two women on charges of stoning workmen. Tear gas was thrown by the sheriff's forces but failed to rout the women who continued fighting.

Plane Finishes Job

When the sheriff's tear gas supply was exhausted the Ohio national guard observation plane piloted by Lieut Karl E Bushong appeared over the mine and released gas bombs routing the women and striking men coal miners who had joined in the melee.

Sheriff Gracey then went into the group and arrested Ida Stevens of Hyatsville and Mary Sabo of Trail Run on charges of inciting to riot.

The women the sheriffs charged hurled stones at the automobiles of workmen as they were leaving the Harriett mine of the National Coal company and then led the attack on the officers when they attempted the arrests.

Workmen entering the tipple of the mine today were met by a barrage of stones hurled by alleged strikers who gathered on the roadway leading to the workings. None was injured. Deputy sheriffs arrested 12 men who they said, will be charged with rioting.

Since the general strike of bituminous coal miners in eastern Ohio the Hocking and Sunday Creek valleys and the Cambridge fields the Ohio National guard has maintained an airplane at the field here for patrol duty. It had been used several times before to disperse large gatherings of alleged strikers about mine properties.

Three hundred strikers were on the picket lines near both mines as the whistles blew this morning.

School and church bells clanged in Chauncey and Millfield as the strikers called their men together for a great demonstration and a parade through Chauncey.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky June 8—Three men were held incommunicado today in connection with the latest flare up of mine labor disorders in western Kentucky which claimed the life of Deputy Sheriff Wallace Myers yesterday at Empire mine No 6.

Myers was killed when machine gun and rifle bullets were fired from a nearby hill as miners emerged from the Empire pit.

Minnie the Cow Bids for Fame as Barn Burns

Special to the Star

UPPER SANDUSKY O June 8 Minnie made an unsuccessful bid for immortal fame last night.

Minnie is farmer Chester Moses cow who joined the ranks of publicity seekers after reading of the worldwide fame gained by Mrs O'Leary's prize milker as a result of the Chicago fire.

Opportunity knocked on the door of Minnie's stall at the Moses farm five miles west of here at 9 o'clock and Minnie being a smart cow always ready to take advantage of opportunities kicked a lantern over.

Today Minnie is gazing upon the smoking ruins of what once was her palatial home constructed three years ago at a cost of more than $2000.

Minnie's well placed kick sent the lighted lantern into a pile of straw. Kerosene caused the flames to spread rapidly until the entire barn was ablaze. Three and a half tons of hay, a corn binder, wagon and small machinery were also destroyed.

The Crane township fire department saved other buildings.

Minnie's failure to make the banner lines in the newspapers is causing her no little grief. She is planning to move to a larger city, where opportunities develop into bigger and better things.

Senate Committee Hears Intimations of Illegal Sales by Prison Official.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, June 8—Intimations that a former member of the state parole board had been paid money in connection with the release of a prisoner and that an official in charge of one of the prison's industrial establishments had made and sold liquor were made before the special senate committee investigating welfare institutions by witnesses today.

William H Payne former secretary to Warden P E Thomas testified he had seen a note intercepted by Jacks Lattimer a prisoner formerly working in the office, purporting to state that a former parole board member had been paid $500 in connection with the case of James Madden a Columbus prisoner, and that it would take $200 more to obtain Madden's release. The note, Payne said purported to be from Madden's sister. Madden later was paroled because of imminent danger of death, but soon thereafter recovered.

Attorney Randolph W Walton, executive clerk to former Governor George K Nash and a member of the pardon board in 1920 testified that during former Governor Cooper's administration an official in charge of one of the state owned brick plants had been charged with making liquor. The matter was brought to the attention of Governor Cooper but nothing had been done about it.

Payne also admitted having been committed to an institution for the insane after serving as Warden P E Thomas private secretary. He declared there was no cooperation between the warden and deputy warden J C Woodard though the [illegible] always appeared willing to cooperate.

Payne said Warden Thomas had given special favors to William H Chatfield of Cincinnati, J J Curtis of Canton and other prisoners. Chatfield he said had been permitted to buy food outside the institution and bring it to the prison.

BEVERLY HILLS Calif June 8 — Got a new suggestion for presidential candidate. Found a prominent man who can make up his mind.

CALVARY WALLOPED BY LEE STREET, 11-4

Trinity Wins from Lutherans, 6-3. Errors Play Big Part in All Contests

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

Sports Editor The Star

For the first time since the cub[illegible] [illegible] a member of [illegible] day [illegible] Epworth Bishops [illegible] undisputed possession of first place in the [illegible] league [illegible] yesterday [illegible] a week by handing [illegible] own church team Epworth [illegible] a 17-6 [illegible] yesterday [illegible] for the fourth victory in five starts. Lee Street moved from fourth place into a tie for second with St. Mary and First Presbyterians by handing the [illegible] Calvary nine its fourth setback of the season by an 11-4 score. The Lutherans plunged deeper into the cellar by absorbing the fifth beating at the hands of Trinity Baptist 6-3. St. Mary and Presbyterians were idle, the game being postponed at the request of the Irish.

It was a combination of 14 Bishops hits and seven Epworth No. 1 errors that brought about the downfall of John Clark's proteges. Bob Gamble and Eddie Mautz were assigned the pitching duties as the game got under way. Neither team scored the first inning but the fireworks got under way in the second. The Bishops launched a hit barrage in this frame that finally shelled Gamble from the mound at the end of the fifth. Clark's batters found the Mautz slants fairly easy to hit except in the pinches. Eddie held them well in check when men were on the bases.

Fourteen Safeties

Fourteen hits rattled off the Bishops bats, the greater share from the tail end of the batting order. Harold Hinamon and Harold Henry led the assault, both with three hits. Hinamon smacked out a homer, triple and single.

Zig Snyder replaced Gamble in the sixth but did no better than his predecessor, although errors can be blamed as much as his hits for his plight. He gave up five hits and the team committed five errors behind him to allow nine Bishops runs in the sixth.

Lee Street continued to hold its place among the leaders by pounding Fido Robbins' slants for 10 hits and 11 runs for an 11-4 victory. The Lee street batters had little respect for the sizzling fast ball which Robbins recently brought into the game here with a new style of delivery. Apparently working on the principle that the faster they come the further they go the Lee street batters clouted them all over the lot. However all the blame for the defeat cannot go onto the shoulders of Robbins. Five misplays were committed by Calvary fielders and most of them came at important moments. Shorty Richards limited the Calvary clubbers to seven hits and for the most part kept them well spaced. Walt Billant drove out a circuit smash in the first inning with one [illegible].

CARDINALS BANK ON "FARMS" TO REPLACE MEN LOST IN TRADES

Latest Deal Sends Rhem and Delker to Philadelphia Nationals

By The Associated Press

[illegible] the [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] the [illegible] traded [illegible] to [illegible] Flint Rhem, right hander, and Eddie Delker [illegible].

The explanation of most of the Cardinal deals by which the Cubs, Dodgers, Reds and Phillies have benefited [illegible] that the world champions [illegible] a house cleaning [illegible] the 1932 campaign.

Here's the Answer

The [illegible] answer to the [illegible] is mainly [illegible] have been the [illegible] to [illegible] on an [illegible] with Cincinnati [illegible] the 1931 season [illegible].

The policy of most pennant winning [illegible] is to stand pat at least until circumstances force a change. The Cardinals however do not believe in [illegible] a championship streak before [illegible].

In short the Cardinals prefer to reorganize [illegible] at a profit rather than to [illegible] an added cost in future.

The policy of playing the market before [illegible] to any further skidding was a factor in the deals that sent Chick Hafey, a holdout, and Andy High to the Reds as well as Burleigh Grimes to the Cubs and Hack Wilson to the Dodgers.

The sale of Rhem removes another of the so-called temperamental performers from the Cardinal roster.

Have Traded Ten

All told some 10 players have figured in Cardinal transactions this spring, in return for which the St. Louis organization has a pair of farm hands and a tidy balance in cash in hand or due with interest.

Rickey doesn't mind the criticism so long as he and Sam Breadon are convinced St. Louis can rebuild its forces adequately with the younger talent produced by the Cardinal chain store system.

The only survivors now of the 1926 Cardinal champions are Jim Bottomley, Bill Hallahan and Jesse Haines.

IT WILL BE A BIGGER, IF NOT A BETTER, JACK SHARKEY THAT FACES SCHMELING THIS TIME
I'll hit him so HIGH and HARD he won't be able to yell foul again
YOU NEVER CAN TELL JUST WHAT TRICK JACK'S TEMPERAMENT WILL PLAY ON HIM.

Mile Record in Danger as College Speedsters Meet

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 8—A new record for the one-mile run confidently expected but which failed to materialize in the past three renewals of the national collegiate track and field championships seems certain for Saturday.

The record of 4:1[illegible] was set by Ray Conger of Iowa State college in 1927 and was equalled by Rufus Kiser of the University of Washington. In spite of better performances by a half dozen or more milers in other meets during the next three years they failed to approach it in the national games.

This year Henry Brocksmith, Indiana's greyhound with an indoor record of 4:12, and Glen Cunningham of the University of Kansas who won the Big Six title with 4:14.3 and came right back with a 1:57 half mile are entered along with several others who have bettered 4:18.

George Saling of Iowa and Ohio State's crack hurdler Jack Keller will renew their feud.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university Negro and Don Bennett of Ohio State will have an opportunity to decide the sprinting championship of the midwest at least.

Trials will be held Friday and the finals Saturday.

STEWARDS DISCUSS SLASH IN PURSES

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, June 8 — Reductions of the purses at the fall meetings of the Maryland tracks to those offered during the early spring was being considered today by the Maryland Racing commission.

A slump felt during the spring meeting caused racing officials to propose the cut in the purses as a matter of economy. Three of the state tracks made some saving in the spring by reducing their staffs especially in the pari mutuels but has failed to cover the expenses of the meetings at Havre de Grace and Bowie.

The minimum purse proposed by the Maryland Jockey club would be a reduction from $1,5[illegible] to $[illegible] 000 for flat races.

UPSETS SCORED IN CLAY COURTS PLAY

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 8—The stars and dark horses have mixed it up with surprising results in the early singles matches on the national clay courts championships and the start of the doubles drew attention today.

A couple of upsets yesterday in the singles matches shared comment with the doubles seedings.

George Lott of Chicago and Bryan Grant of Atlanta were seeded first in the doubles rankings with Clifford and Ed Sutter, the New Orleans brothers, second.

The galleries got a thrill yesterday when Gerin Cameron of Tulsa took Louis Thalheimer of Dallas, eighth seeded player, for a 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 drubbing in third round play and Ed Lejeck, seeded seventh, was unexpectedly tumbled in his initial appearance before Arnold Simon of Louisville 8-6, 6-4.

Wood Speedboat Record To Go On Books. 111 Miles An Hour

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 8—The American Power Boat association has decided to recognize Gar Wood's speedboat mark of 111.7 miles per hour as American record after all.

Wood made his record run in Florida under the auspices of the Yachtsmen's Association of America and although the mark was accepted by the International Motor Yachting union the A. P. B. A. declined to recognize it as an American standard.

For months the A. P. B. A. and the Y. A. A. have been at odds over questions affecting international motorboat racing and the A. P. B. A.'s action in declining to recognize Wood's performance deepened the breach.

Now the A. P. B. A. has reconsidered, Wood having explained his failure to apply for A. P. B. A. sanction as due to the fact that he had merely forgotten to ask it.

With steel production reported at the lowest since last December and some uneasiness manifested in financial quarters over the fate of governmental economy and relief measures brokers were inclined to the belief that the share market was giving about as good an account of itself as could be expected for the month It was pointed out however that any further substantial slump toward the low average levels recorded before last week's recovery would be a bad technical sign

July Delivery of Wheat Selling Under 50, Demand Lacking in Mart.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 8—Prevailing quotations on wheat today on the Chicago board of trade were the lowest in the history of the exchange excepting only last October

July delivery of wheat representing the new 1932 domestic crop sold down to below 50 cents a bushel The central factor was dearth of buyers with a striking lack of the demand that usually comes from shorts

On the downward swing of wheat prices went quickly to about 10 cents under last week's top Numerous holders were forced out of the market by automatic execution of stop loss orders and commission house offerings were heavy Meanwhile only meager support developed new buyers being apparently deterred owing to bearish aspects of the economic and financial developments at Washington

Particular notice was taken of reports indicating auspicious conditions for the growing crop of unofficial advices put the crop at wheat in Canada Comprehensive a percentage of 106 in Alberta 89 in Saskatchewan and 96 in Manitoba Stooling was reported as generally up to normal Special attention was also drawn to official reports that western Kansas wheat conditions were favorable and that the Kansas harvest was expected to be general within two weeks Corn and oats were relatively firm compared with wheat corn receipts being scanty

For Thursday June 9

A PARTICULARLY lively, stirring eventful and progressive day is foretold by the interesting lunar positions There is signs of a sudden and very important fresh opportunity to better circumstances increase the fortune and associations

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of splendid opportunity arising from unexpected sources Change of environment and contacts increase of fortune and personal popularity and prestige are assured but might be jeopardized by rash hasty and temperamental manipulation Be calm wise and self contained avoiding contention and petulance A child born on this day should be versatile enterprising skillful and adventurous and should rise to probably conspicuous position and stable fortunes through its splendid capacities

32 St. Mary's Seniors Get Diplomas at Exercises

Rev. Father Summe Assistant Pastor of Catholic Church Discusses Principles of Education in Annual Commencement Sermon in Star Auditorium

The principles of a Catholic education were the ideals stressed as a basis upon which to form their lives by Rev. Father Edward H. Summe, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, in his address to the 32 graduates of the parish school at the annual commencement exercises at night in The Star auditorium.

While education trains and develops the mind and prepares man to cope with the many problems which human life presents, Catholic education goes farther than all that. It gives the child and the school what is needed [illegible] the arts and sciences [illegible] taken [illegible] the [illegible] of man's soul, he declared.

Awards Made

The large hall was filled to capacity for the exercises. The diplomas were presented by Rev. Father W. J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary's church, assisted by Rev. Father Robert VonKaenel of Cincinnati. Father VonKaenel presented the diploma to his [illegible] Miss Rosemary [illegible] [illegible] to M[illegible] J[illegible] [illegible] were presented Miss Mary Louise Garreau and Miss Jean [illegible] Drake, valedictorian and salutatorian of the class, and Miss Ga[illegible] was awarded a [illegible] St. Mary's [illegible]. Two [illegible] who were presented [illegible] from St. Mary's [illegible].

Miss Garreau has not been absent or tardy during the past six years of school.

Herman J. Amann, Robert J. [illegible], Joseph J. Napoli and Howard J. [illegible], members of the graduating class, presented a symposium of Washington's life in keeping with the bicentennial observance of his birth.

Music for the program was furnished by the Marion symphony orchestra, which played for the processional "Coronation March." Other selections included Friml's "The Firefly," a medley of patriotic melodies and a selection from "Tannhauser" by Wagner. Members of St. Mary's glee club sang "Zingaresa Serenade," Silver, accompanied at the piano by Miss Frances Scranton.

Existence of an irresoluteness and a lack of the finer sensibilities which indicate a healthy condition of soul, and the want of firmness and stability which will presage a similar condition for the future of society, were pointed out by Father Summe as an imperative need for education today.

Greatest Need of Time

He gave as the answer to the missing step in the ascent to prosperity, peace and happiness spiritual training and an uplift of soul. Religion, he declared, must be the dominant feature of man's life and without it there can be no progress intellectually or materially.

Continuing he said: "There is a famine abroad on the earth, not of bread, for we have too much of that and our luxury has made us forget our God; a famine not of gold, for the glitter of so much of that has blinded us to the true meaning of the value of life and our immortal souls. It is a famine of a more serious kind and one which today threatens every country in the world, a famine for truly great men.

"We are suffering from [illegible]. We are dying from the scourge of mediocrity; we are perishing from our pettiness. The world's greatest need is great men, men who will understand that there is no greater conquest than the victory over one's self; some one who will seek first the kingdom of God and His justice; some one who will gain victories not by stepping down from the Cross and compromising with the world, but who will stand firm against the encroachments of error and falsehood and who will ever mirror in their own lives the virtues of Christ and His saints.

Appeal Still Strong

"The appeal of Christ [illegible] His church and all [illegible] mission to teach [illegible] is as strong today as [illegible] was in all that pertains [illegible] part of man's life [illegible] of his immortal [illegible]. The Catholic church has [illegible] for every yearning [illegible] beauty and the [illegible] it in the charm [illegible] morality which through [illegible] the Crucified Love [illegible] attracts and allures [illegible] promising sternness [illegible] God Who commands [illegible] perfection and holiness [illegible] of Himself. In the [illegible] material things which she turns to the service of God as she calls forth the highest efforts of music, poetry, art and architecture to praise the beauty of God Himself and make us live in a realm of heaven rather than earth. And she does it not as the pagans of old to make a beauty of worship but rather to lead all mankind to the foot of the Cross of Jesus Christ.

"You are armed with the Cross of Christ and you have within your heart the cherished ideals of God's own children. May you ever guide your footsteps in His ways and may you have peace and prosperity of a material and spiritual kind."

THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON gave a dinner in honor of Jeremy Bentham, who worked for humanity, and a strange wish of the great Bentham was carried out, namely, this: "My skeleton be put together in such a manner that the whole figure may be seated in the chair usually occupied by me when living, in the attitude in which I was sitting when engaged in thought."

At the dinner in his honor Bentham's skeleton, dressed in clothes that he wore one hundred years ago, with an artificial head representing his features as in real life, to avoid the gruesome effect of the skull, sat with the guests at dinner.

To some of us that seems a strange idea. But others that share man's intense hatred of being wiped out and forgotten can understand how old Bentham felt.

Anything, however little, is better than oblivion. It probably comforts Buddhists to know that a tooth supposed to have been his is carried in pious procession on the back of an elephant, and it pleased Mohammed to know that millions of his followers would rather own one hair from his beard than a fifty carat diamond.

New York Stage Beauty Plans Marker for Husband's Grave at Prospect

Hazel Forbes Formerly of Follies Here After Making Plans for Monument

Mrs. Paul O. Richmond of New York City, known on the stage as Hazel Forbes, was in Marion for a few hours yesterday when she came to visit the Prospect cemetery where the body of her husband lies in the mausoleum.

Hazel Forbes

Mrs. Richmond came to Marion from Cleveland where she had discussed the monument which she will have erected in the cemetery following interment of Mr. Richmond and his first wife. The monument of pink granite from South Carolina will be erected not later than the [illegible] of September. A slab of the granite in one piece will cover the Richmond lot and above it will be erected the headstone flanked by two urns of the granite and bronze.

Pneumonia Is Fatal

Mr. Richmond died last winter after a short illness of pneumonia. He had been married to Miss Forbes a little more than a year and a half when he died.

Arriving here shortly after 9 a. m., she went immediately to Prospect and visited for a time at the R. L. Watkins home. Mr. Richmond was associated with the R. L. Watkins Co., manufacturers of cosmetics. She left Marion at 3:34 p. m.

Mrs. Richmond met her husband while she was playing in Ziegfeld's "Whoopee," starring Eddie Cantor. Their first meeting was on a yacht to which she had been invited for a week end cruise. After their marriage much of their time was spent on Richmond's own yacht, on which they took long cruises, going several times to the Florida keys for fishing, a sport of which both Mr. and Mrs. Richmond were extremely fond.

Forbes Is Stage Name

Hazel Forbes is Mrs. Richmond's stage name. It is much shorter and avoids the misspelling and mispronunciation of her family name, Hazel [illegible], she explained. She was born on a ranch in North Dakota but most of her life has been lived in New York City.

At the time she was chosen by Ziegfeld to glorify the American girl she was under contract to Warner Bros. and was making short subjects. Previously she had appeared in several Broadway shows, including an Ed Wynn musical comedy.

Tax Bill Becomes Law as Hoover Signs Name

President Approves Measure Within Two Hours After Senate Passage; Majority of New Rates Effective by June 21.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 7 — The new revenue bill is law today bolstering the credit of the government with the greatest range of taxes ever imposed except during war.

With spartan absence of ceremony, President Hoover transformed this giant legislation into statute by affixing his signature yesterday evening, less than two hours after the final legislative step had been taken by the senate.

The majority of the new rates, excises, tariffs, and stamp taxes will go into effect in 15 days or on June 21. The new high income rates are applicable to the earnings of the current calendar year and will be payable on next year's returns.

Billion Dollar Law

The tax law is to pour $1,118,500,000 into the treasury during the fiscal year which begins July 1 and thus restore the national finances to a cash basis—pay as you go and no more borrowing—aiding to restore the country's economic life to its normal great vigor.

Its companion measure, the national economy program, by which expenditures of the government are to be cut to a point equalling the revenue, was being driven forward to completion today by the senate. Its passage by evening was sought by the leaders.

The senate had laid this economy bill aside yesterday to give final approval to the tax bill.

More than 30 senators sought to have the whole bill sent out to the conferees again because these had laid the electric tax on the consumer's monthly bill and extended it to include municipal power systems. But an unyielding majority would not be talked of the major objective to pass the bill.

The bill went through 46 to 35.

Wide Range of Items

Of the new law's total expected yield the excise taxes, ranging from electric power to cosmetics, from automobiles to candy, are bringing in $450,500,000.

Miscellaneous taxes which include charges on telephone and telegraph messages, admission tickets, oil pipe lines, safe deposit boxes, bank checks and boats, are counted on for $152,000,000.

From income taxes, personal and corporation, with many administrative changes reducing possible reductions, a total of $200,000,000 is to be drawn.

Postage rate increases including three cent letter postage, are established at $160,000,000. Stamp taxes on bond and stock issues and on transfers, futures and conveyances are listed at $45,500,000.

Gift taxes, the four tariffs on coal, oil, lumber and copper account for the balance.

WET CAMP IN JUBILANT MOOD

Anti-Drys See Huge Gain as Rockefeller Changes Prohibition Stand

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 7—Jubilation reigned in the wet camp today for John D. Rockefeller Jr., a life long dry, has decided the eighteenth amendment ought to be repealed.

The oil magnate's change of opinion disclosed in a letter to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler brought expressions of amazement and sharp disagreement from supporters of the prohibition amendment which Rockefeller and his father helped make the law of the land.

In expressing hope that both major parties would adopt repeal planks and remove the question from the partisan strife, Rockefeller made it plain he had not altered his views on temperance.

He said he and his father had contributed $350,000 to the anti-saloon league to support prohibition legislation.

"Slowly and reluctantly," he said he had come to believe that the amendment had not been supported by public opinion sufficiently to hasten the day when the value of society of men with minds and bodies free from the undermining effects of alcohol would be generally realized.

Rather, he declared he found that "drinking generally has increased, the speakeasy has replaced the saloon, not only unit for unit but probably two fold if not three fold, that a vast army of lawbreakers has been recruited and financed on a colossal scale, that many of our best citizens, piqued at what they regarded as an infringement of their private rights have openly and unabashed disregarded the 18th amendment, that as an inevitable result respect for all law has been greatly lessened, that crime has increased to an unprecedented degree."

Rockefeller told Dr. Butler, president of Columbia university and prominent Republican foe of the amendment, that he was in complete sympathy with a resolution Dr. Butler proposed to have the Republican national convention incorporate in its platform. The resolution calls for repeal by submission to state conventions, pledging the party to fight the saloon and urging that the amendment be obeyed while in force.

The oil magnate said sufficient time ought to be given before repeal became effective to permit the states to insure control of the liquor traffic. He declared, however, that he did not favor coupling repeal with an alternate measure offered as a substitute because it would be difficult for people to agree and unlikely that any one method will fit the entire nation.

Comments from Both Sides.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the W. C. T. U., commenting on the letter asked: "will people who have refused to obey the prohibition law agree to obey the restrictions that must of necessity be a part of any other law?"

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, said the amendment had been successful and that "certainly we do not propose to exchange what we have for better than the legalized traffic and saloon of the old days for something that is unformulated and untried."

Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, chairman of the prohibition national committee, declaring Rockefeller made wild statements, said government figures show that "the source of liquor supply is not over 25 per cent what it was before," and that crime has decreased.

Dr. Butler, on the other hand, hailed Mr. Rockefeller's support and said it would have "a very great influence in the public opinion of the country," and Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the women's organization for national prohibition reform, praised the oil man for his "courage."

Explain This

WHAT goes up must come down, but when it goes up in the unexplainable way that W. A. Shuster of 407 Bellefontaine avenue saw 200 pieces of newspapers rise in the air this week does it ever come down.

Shuster, seated on his front porch Sunday afternoon, glanced at a garden on Patterson street. The gardener had covered approximately 200 plants with newspapers. The air was perfectly still, not even a faint breeze stirred the leaves of the trees, Shuster relates. Suddenly, Shuster said, while he was watching the garden the 200 newspaper covers rose almost at the same instant, and floated high, high, high into the air and away out of sight. For more than two hours Shuster watched the sky for a sign of the floating newspapers, but caught sight of none of them.

Makes Aladdin and his lamp and the magic carpet sound tame to hear Shuster tell of the strange sight.

PROBE RUINS FOR MISSING

Seven Tenants of Cleveland Apartment Reported Unaccounted For

SIXTH BODY RECOVERED

Investigators Working on Theory Fire Was of Incendiary Origin.

By the Associated Press

CLEVELAND June 8—Firemen were still searching for bodies today in the blackened tons of steel and brick that remained of the Ellington apartment destroyed by fire with an unknown loss of life

The body of the sixth victim of the Ellington apartments fire was recovered late today The body was that of a man unidentified and so badly burned as to be almost unrecognizable

A fifth body badly charred was recovered earlier in the day but seven tenants were still unlocated more than 24 hours after the terrific explosion and fire which gutted the building early yesterday

The fifth body recovered was tentatively identified as that of Mrs Clara Withers about 65

Probe Disaster

Authorities said the list of missing might be incomplete since there was no way of knowing how many visitors were in the building a six story structure

Fire Chief James F Granger and Safety Director Frank J Merrick announced they were investigating the disaster on the theory it was of incendiary origin

Ray L Turk 39 part owner of the American Beauty and Barber Supply Co where Granger and Merrick said the explosion evidently occurred voluntarily gave a statement in which he said there was a small quantity of alcohol in the basement used by his firm in making hair tonics The barber supply concern was one of the many business places in the street floor

Gas Theory Discounted

Officials said they did not believe gas caused the blaze

One hundred and twenty men were digging in the debris but it was believed it would take another day or two for them to finish and definitely established how many perished

A revised and official casualty list showed that besides the missing and dead eight had been seriously injured and 16 received minor injuries

PUBLIC WORKS BONDS GIVEN COMMITTEE OK

Senate Group Approves Democratic Proposal for Half Billion Issue.

GARNER BILL IN SENATE

Speaker's Proposal Gets Almost Solid Party Vote To Carry 216 to 182

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8 — The Democratic unemployment relief bill providing for a $500 000 000 public works bond issue was approved today by the senate banking committee

The bill also provides for increasing the borrowing paper of the Reconstruction corporation by $1 500 000 000 for loans on self liquidating construction projects

The committee voted however to eliminate provisions for loans to competing private industries

President Hoover has opposed the Democratic proposal for a $500 000 000 bond issue but has approved in principle the remainder of the program

Ok Separate Bill

The committee yesterday approved as a separate bill the Democratic proposal for a $300 000 000 fund for loans to states in destitution and an attempt was to be made in the senate today to get an agreement for its consideration

The senate committee voted seven to four in favor of the Democratic Wagner bill including the bond issue program It agreed to cut out of the Wagner bill provision for loans to limited housing corporations

Provisions was retained in the bill for allocation of $40 000 000 from the Reconstruction corporation for financing agricultural exports

Garner Bill Passed Up

While considering the various relief measures the committee gave no consideration to the gigantic bill sponsored by Speaker Garner which passed the house yesterday

Meanwhile the chairman of the house rules committee today told the house he would call up the administration's home loan discount bank bill for consideration Friday

The home loan bank bill is one of the important proposals on President Hoover's relief program It would create from eight to 12 banks with a capitalization of not less than $5 000 000 each

The Garner plan was put through the house by an almost solid Democratic vote with the aid of some insurgent Republicans The roll call showed 216 for it 182 against Bound by agreement in party caucus to support the bill all Democrats but 30 supported the speaker

Republicans Opposed

Heeding President Hoover's denunciation of the bill as a gigantic pork barrel all but 21 of the Republicans voted against it Though the outcome was inevitable they tried but lost before this an attempt to recommit the bill and have the President's relief program substituted for that of the speaker The latter involving a total outlay of $2 300 000 000 calls for $100 000 000 to be given outright by the federal government in relief of destitution $1 000 000,000 expansion of the Reconstruction corporation and $1 200 000 000 of public works the money to be secured by a bond issue based on a gasoline tax

ECONOMY BILL NEAR POINT OF APPROVAL

Reduction in Allowances of War Veterans Eliminated from Measure.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8 —The senate's drive to balance the budget carried the national economy bill to the point of passage today

Much reduced by yesterday's striking out of $48 000 000 in savings which were to have been obtained by cutting war veterans allowances the measure's estimated total of economies in government outlays stood at the beginning of today's session at $166 000 000

Only one more attempt to substitute President Hoover's furlough plan for the flat 10 per cent cut in government salaries faced the senate before it could pass the bill and send it back to the house for conference This was proposed by Senator La Follette Republican of Wisconsin who hoped to muster a few more votes than were cast for it yesterday and thus approve it It was rejected 41 to 36

Rejection of the entire section affecting veterans came at the conclusion of yesterday's session and it was done by the overwhelming vote of 63 to 14 after members of the committee sponsoring the bill told the senate the plan was not practicable at this time

The house too rejected this economy

Minnie the Cow Bids for Fame as Barn Burns

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY O June 8 Minnie made an unsuccessful bid for immortal fame last night

Minnie is famed Chester ... cow who joined the ranks of publicity seekers after recalling the worldwide fame gained by Mrs O'Leary's prize milker as a result of the Chicago fire

Opportunity knocked on the door of Minnie's stall at the Moses farm five miles west of here at 8 o'clock and Minnie being a smart cow always ready to take advantage of opportunities kicked a lantern over

Today Minnie is gazing upon the smoking ruins of what once was her palatial home constructed three years ago at a cost of more than $2,000

Minnie's well placed kick sent the lighted lantern into a pile of straw Kerosene caused the flames to spread rapidly until the entire barn was ablaze Three and a half tons of hay a grain binder wagon and small machinery were also destroyed

The Crane township fire department saved other buildings

Minnie's failure to make the banner lines in the newspapers is causing her no little grief She is planning to move to a larger city where opportunities develop into bigger and better things

Senate Committee Hears Intimations of Illegal Sales by Prison Official

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O June 8—Intimations that a former member of the state parole board had been paid money in connection with the release of a prisoner and that an official in charge of one of the prison's industrial establishments had made and sold liquor were made before the special senate committee investigating welfare institutions by witnesses today

William H Payne former secretary to Warden P E Thomas testified he had seen a note intercepted by Jack Lattimer a prisoner formerly working in the office, purporting to state that a former parole board member had been paid $300 in connection with the case of James Madden a Columbus prisoner, and that it would take $200 more to obtain Madden's release The note, Payne said purported to be from Madden's sister Madden later was paroled because of imminent danger of death, but soon thereafter recovered

Attorney Randolph W Walton executive clerk to former Governor George K Nash and a member of the parole board in 1920 testified that during former Governor Cooper's administration an official in charge of one of the state owned brick plants had been charged with making liquor The matter was brought to the attention of Governor Cooper but nothing had been done about it

Payne who admitted having been committed to an institution for the insane after serving as Warden P E Thomas private secretary declared there was no cooperation between the warden and deputy warden J C Woodard though the deputy always appeared willing to cooperate

Payne said Warden Thomas had given special favors to William H Chatfield of Cincinnati J J Curtis of Canton and other prisoners Chatfield he said had been permitted to buy food outside the institution and bring it to the prison

SEEKS RETURN OF ROAD TAXES

Association Checks State Highway Assessments Here.

Work in preparation for a movement to reimburse owners of property for special assessments on state highways built in recent years moved into Marion county this morning when three representatives of the Ohio Service & Tax Relief association with headquarters at West Union O began checking special assessment records in the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas

Claude Grimes of Manchester Andrew Farhart of Fayetteville and A B Caldwell of Cincinnati representing the association are checking the records to determine the amount of special assessments paid by owners of Marion county property on state highways built from 1921 to 1929 they said. Marion county is the thirty sixth county where figures have been obtained and the average figures in these counties have been $48,000 Mr Grimes said

When all counties of the state have been checked the association plans to submit a bill to the legislature probably next fall authorizing the state to reimburse land owners for these special assessment payments he explained

Owners of benefiting property were assessed a part of the cost of building state highways until 1928 when the state assumed the full cost of state roads according to Grimes The first records of state highway construction in this county in which such assessments were paid is in 1921 he said

The movement to oblige the state to refund the amounts of the assessments was begun by a group of large landowners whose assessments on state roads reached a sizeable figure Grimes said He explained that he and the two other men working here had been employed by the association to obtain necessary data to submit with the proposed legislation. They plan to be at work here one week

E H Ellis of Manchester is the active head of the association Robert Williams of Decatur is secretary and Homer McCreight of Seaman is treasurer and store owners near the Anacostia encampment of veterans

All lumber of any size in the encampment had been used to build shelters and only feeble bonfires could be built for the veterans to huddle about

Vets Face Hunger

The dust clouds of the bonus trek were being shaped into a question mark of ugly import

Where are tomorrow's meals coming from?

The police supply of stew and other meager fare is almost gone Today is the last day for which authorities have promised food What will happen tomorrow no one knows

The army will feed us said one leader of the veterans expressing determination to stay until congress acts

Communists handled roughly at the veterans encampments were singularly quiet during the parade last night which was seen by about 100,000 spectators A reported Red plot to start a riot failed to materialize

Sick faces medals pinned to greasy overalls grimy overseas caps uniforms ragged and patched marked the parade Only the flags the Stars and Stripes looked new

Brushing up dimly remembered training of war days the veterans formed in the shadow of Washington monument under command of George Alman Oregon timber jack and marched silently up Pennsylvania avenue The route did not pass the White House

The government faced a dilemma If further sustenance is provided District of Columbia officials expected to see the army increase hugely and stay indefinitely

If the army stays and is not fed they fear hunger may drive some of the men to disorder

AMATEUR POLITICIAN DEFEATS BROOKHART

Iowa Republicans Name Henry Field as Choice for U S Senate.

(Field Photo on Page 12)

By The Associated Press

DES MOINES Ia June 8—The vagaries of politics today sent an amateur at the game to the head of Iowa's Republican ticket for the November general elections as the party's candidate for United States senator

The amateur was Henry Field erstwhile seed grower then radio station owner and provider of the farm family's needs from the breakfast prunes that furnished ammunition for opponents speeches to overalls baby chicks and automatic feeders

He accused Brookhart of nepotism and using the senatorial franking privilege for distributing campaign literature

Brookhart claimed Field was entered in the race to split up the vote and force the nomination to convention But Field instead polled consistently around 45 per cent of the total cast for the office

The downfall of Brookhart came six years almost to the day after his own spectacular upset victory over the late Senator Albert B Cummins That marked Brookhart's return to the political arena after his defeat in an earlier election contest by Daniel F Steck Ottumwa Democrat

Steck too was among those feeling the upset of the old order in this year's primary Louis Murphy of Dubuque seemed certain to be the Democratic nominee for senator with Steck a poor second

With the last returns still trickling in this morning the senatorial vote stood

Thomas denied any prisoners were made trusties as a reward for supplying information concerning the activities of fellow convicts

Charges of favoritism in the censorship of prison mail were denied by the warden as were complaints by several prisoners and former guards that Mrs Thomas exercised undue authority at the prison

Dr George W Kell prison physician testified he had treated prisoners who had been clubbed but added that he knew nothing of the details of such punishment Deputy Warden J C Woodland told the committee he believed most instances of clubbings resulted from attacks on guards

U. S. Hostage of Chinese Relates Harrowing Tale

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI June 8 A harrowing tale of five months of terror and filthy living conditions was told here today by Captain Charles Baker American steamboat captain, who was released last week near Hankow by Chinese bandits who kidnaped him last winter

Captain Baker who was released through the efforts of American missionaries after many previous attempts had been made to meet ransom demands of his captors arrived here on his way to the United States

I was threatened with death 50 times he said I never expected to survive These half civilized treacherous inhuman bandits who call themselves communists are conducting a wholesale kidnaping business Their victims are any foreigners or wealthy Chinese they can lay their hands on who they believe would be capable of paying huge ransoms

During the entire five months his food consisted only of half cooked rice and fish twice a day, he said Although he was frequently threatened with execution because the ransom demand of 50,000 Mexican dollars was not met he was mistreated physically only once

Then I was chained and beaten he said apparently because a newly arrived chief wished to impress his followers

CONFER ON ACTION AGAINST WET PLANK

Republican Drys Consider Concerted Attack on Re-submission Proposal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 8—Republican prohibitionists of the senate talked about making a concerted attack on the party's proposed resubmission plank yesterday but reached no agreement

Eight of them gathered without previous announcement in the office of Senator Borah of Idaho striking a lot of speculation But when the discussion was over they indicated no prospect of unified action by them at the Chicago convention and Borah himself reiterated his decision not to go

Meanwhile James R Garfield who is chairman of the platform drafting committee left for Chicago with the tentative resubmission plank which a majority of the G O P congressional leaders have approved He held final conference with party chiefs but apparently did not call again on President Hoover who has kept silence on the prohibition issue confronting the party

The general conclusion in the capital however is that the President's stand has been indicated by the presence of Postmaster General Brown and administration leaders in the meetings which favored the resubmission plank

In Borah's gathering were Smoot of Utah Robinson of Indiana Steiwer of Oregon Thomas of Idaho Capper of Kansas Goldsborough of Maryland and Vandenberg of Michigan

NINE

[illegible] Vall [illegible] of things [illegible] returned [illegible] or two [illegible] the elf [illegible] gangster [illegible] himself [illegible] of his feet [illegible] of his right [illegible] her with his [illegible] His shock [illegible] back [illegible] down with pomade She could smell the lilac scent of it

"If he tries to neck you again I'll kill him" he declared flatly "Lucky I happened by" He paused a moment in thought. Then his brow cleared "Wouldn't it be better if I cracked his neck right now? There wouldn't be a squawk out of him."

"No no please" she turned a sob into a nervous laugh "Thank you so much Mr Lucci but let's not add to our troubles" Mr Lucci looked as though he thought the trouble would be negligible a thing to be forgotten in the next breath but she hurried on "I'm sure he won't bother me again"

Mallory was struggling to his feet, his green eyes hot and murderous. A bluish lump was already becoming evident on the point of his chin He lurched as he turned and staggered into the house

"That's what too much hootch does to a guy" Lucci observed philosophically "If that bird was in training now he could muscle his way through quite a good set-to" He wiped his forehead with a florid handkerchief of lavender silk bordered and initialed in purple "Gee ain't it hot Have you got any idea where we are Miss Wentworth?"

"Not the slightest" She drew a long breath of relief A danger point had been passed in safety "Mr Mallory thinks we're on one of the southernmost islands of the Bahama group Mr Hamilton thinks we are on the Florida coast"

"How long were you in that plane?"

"It must have been fifteen or sixteen hours The curtains were drawn during the day time and we landed at night so we couldn't see whether we had been flying over land or water"

"Fifteen hours" echoed the gangster reflectively "That knocks my idea out of the picture I figured we'd been in the air long enough to of got to California or maybe Mexico But I don't think they could have carried you that far from New York It's hot enough to be way down in the tropics Well I'll pass We'll know some time I guess if we don't all get bumped off down here fighting with each other Have they said anything to you about ransom money?"

"Not a word Nor to any of the others so far as I know Perhaps that's one of the things that makes the tension and the uncertainty"

"Well it's a swell racket whatever they're doing about collecting for us They bought this island and this portable house for $15 000 say The airplane cost them fifteen—twenty grand more The clothes they bought for us when we got down here and the eats drinks and furniture say another five grand That's something like $40 000 God knows how much they will chisel outa us before they turn us loose But me I don't mind It's worth whatever it costs I didn't think any red hot living could teach me a good racket And this one's a wow"

His calm analysis of the situation as a business proposition appealed to her sense of humor and quickly restored her perspective

She had heard of notorious One Shot Lucci as had every other newspaper reading inhabitant of the United States Tales of his diabolical ferocity his cold blooded use of machine guns bombs, airplanes and other frightful weapons of modern warfare his brazen disregard for life or man made law his complete domination of more than two-thirds of the entire criminal element of the country had been widely written up in the press She in common with millions of others, had imagined One-shot Lucci to be a modern edition of the wild west gunman of popular fiction.

Instead he reminded her of the prosperous fellow who owned her [illegible] fur shop in New York It was only the expression of his eyes chill as brown agate, and the hard set to his jaw that was markedly different Yet those two features alone told her that he might be—that he was—all of those things delineated by the newspapers His exceptional intelligence combined with a total lack of moral sense made him what he indubitably was one of the most dangerous men in America.

"Well what do you see?" His crisp voice with scarcely a trace of accent challenged her

"Very little that I did not know"

He accepted her thrust

"I must find a cool spot" she said

She turned toward the door and had nearly reached the sanctuary of the darkened interior when his voice cool and measured came to her

"Next time anyone starts to make love to you Nancy tell him that I'll toss his [illegible] out to the sharks"

She wheeled around her courage returning determined to fight it out then and there He had disappeared His steps could be heard slithering through the sawgrass around the corner of the porch

Not since the spy scares during the World war had there been such a general feeling of distrust pervading the country as that which followed the bold raids of the kidnapers in Chicago

Newspapers were filled with headlines reporting the latest vague pronouncements of the police which when analyzed revealed that the officials knew nothing and were at their wits end

Every airplane manufacturing plant in the United States was visited by police who checked the name of each recent purchaser of an amphibian or a flying boat Work of checking the resales of such craft was proceeding apace but since aviators are notably a migratory lot months would be needed to complete the work

Attorneys representing the two Chicago millionaires took the train for New York with a man who was reputedly the cleverest criminal lawyer in the United States who represented One shot Lucci

After a very lengthy conference with the firm of Hammond Smyth Whittelsey Van Ashforth and Hammond the reward fund was increased to $150 000 for each person rescued from captivity Also $250 000 was offered to the person or persons causing the arrest and conviction of the leader of the kidnaping band

An undenied rumor was published in the press stating that a score of wealthy men had underwritten a huge fund to be used in retaining the services of the two largest private detective agencies in the country to work independently of each other and of the police

On Saturday the 15th it was announced that a demand had been made upon the friends and relatives of the Chicago victims for a board bill of $100 000 each to be placed in a rowboat anchored upon Lake Michigan exactly 12 miles east of the Great Lakes naval training station Specific mention was made in the demand that watch would be set for aircraft or surface vessels Warning was given that if a similar trap were set on Lake Michigan to that off Montauk point no effort would be made to take the money and the prisoners would bear the brunt of retaliation As before the notes were written and enclosed in nondescript stationery but were on this occasion mailed from a box in Chicago's populous Loop There were no finger prints nor any other traceable clues

At nine o'clock the following Wednesday morning a large cabin monoplane zoomed off an uneven field of stubble on the outskirts of Milwaukee Wisconsin and flew southward at an amazing speed When it turned out over Lake Michigan at Waukegan its altitude was such as to render it almost invisible from the ground

Twenty four thousand feet above the vast expanse of inland sea three men were comfortably seated in its heated enclosed cabin Jerry his gray eyes sparkling was at the joy stick

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Ronald Asks for a Private Talk With Madge Before They Return to Whitney Hall

My eyes followed Lillian's pointing finger to the sky directly over the hotel where a silver colored plane was swooping down toward us from some unknown height above When it seemed almost certain that it would ultimately crash, it suddenly straightened out and twice circled over that part of the village that included the hotel and the school Then it zoomed away in the direction of the road which Lillian and I had searched that morning

"Don't wave or show any recognition" Lillian had whispered immediately after her low toned exclamation that Dicky was on the job but although there was no sign from the man guiding the plane I was sure that he had seen us and I sent all my heart after him as he disappeared in the distance

Dicky in the Skies

"There's no mistaking the Dicky bird's style of flying" Lillian said but so low was her voice and so casual her air that no bystander would have guessed she had any interest in the flyer beyond the thrill that I believe comes to almost everyone at seeing a silver bird skim the clouds

"No there isn't" I managed to get the words out some way through lips stiffened with the fear that always comes to me when Dicky is flying It is a terror born I know in the awful moment when I saw him fall at the training field before the World War and I do not believe I ever shall be wholly rid of it

"Where's he going to report progress?" Lillian asked briskly unerringly seizing the best method of calming me by giving me a question to answer

"I don't know" I returned "He didn't say anything except that he could do better work in another branch of the service"

A Talk with Ronald

"Playing a lone hand eh?" Then she stopped and looked at me curiously "Hugh's doing the same thing isn't he? Wonder if they're—Well! There aren't two men anywhere with [illegible] bodies, keener minds or more dauntless courage than Hugh and the Dicky-bird. They ought to find the girls, if anybody can."

Her face worked suddenly and grew so ashen that I feared she would fall. But her husband's powerful hand was under her elbow in an instant, his body shielding her from any curious gaze. The next moment she stood erect and spoke calmly.

"I'm perfectly all right. I'm going to lie down until you [illegible] so long!"

[illegible]

He is the most chivalrous lad I know and I knew that his concern was genuine But I also was sure that he craved speech alone with me because I had known more than anyone else about his troubled youthful romance with Marion And we were no sooner in the car than he spoke tensely

"Do you have to get back right away? Couldn't we drive five or ten minutes first? I want to talk to you"

"For ten minutes yes" I replied promptly "It would take me that long to reach the school. If you'll have me back within a block from there in twelve minutes I can [illegible] with you"

For answer he speeded up the car and in a minute or two was on one of the quiet side streets of the village He drove to the end of it then turned into a country road and slowed down to a mere snail's pace

What He Had Said

"I've got just to talk to somebody" he said "and you know more about us than anybody else does I'm going crazy I think because of things I said to Marion when I saw her last"

He didn't expect an answer or a comment I saw that and sat silent but alert watching his hands clutch the wheel He was driving mechanically [illegible] his unseeing [illegible] eyes staring ahead I [illegible] myself to seize the wheel if his mental pain should outweigh his [illegible] he was driving and waited for what he would say next

"You know you asked me to pretend that [illegible] with Mary so that Marion would be cured of whatever she felt for that old Owen"

"Yes" I uttered no word beyond this monosyllable Not yet was it time to speak of what I knew to be Marion's real feeling toward Owen

Progressive Change

American holders of Chilean bonds and securities representing enterprises in that stormy little republic fought off a chill when they read that the government had been overthrown again and probably would be replaced by a Socialist regime. It was revolution—a terrible word when nerves are on the ragged edge and dividend and interest checks make news.

Securities and bonds are safe. Carlos Davila, once a popular ambassador at whose Washington dinner party Alice Roosevelt Longworth and Dolly Gann first clashed, is the outstanding leader of the group which hopes to create the first Socialist state in South America. He promises that there will be no violent overturn of the government if his party is successful.

The government will be rebuilt according to a policy of progressive state socialism. All contracts will be respected. "I believe the capitalistic system is dying and that the only hope for Chile is fiscalization of many industries, distribution of food and so forth," says Senor Davila. He will undertake the task gradually if Chileans give him the chance to try his hand.

For a working model he could do worse than to choose the United States. Still a long way from state socialism, this nation has advanced a vast distance toward it, nevertheless. Strangely enough the advance has been unconscious. Many of those who promoted it would be the last to admit sympathy for what they have been doing.

Socialism means the discarding of the institution of private property and the division of the resultant public income among the entire population. The new tax bill accompanied by the great body of relief legislation before the people is a step in the fulfillment of such a program—one of many that have been taken since the trust busters warned private business that it was going to have to exist under restrictions in this nation—restrictions that lately have amounted virtually to seizure by the state.

The California man who had 5,000 persons attending a picnic to select his bride for him out of a group of seven prospects followed a most unique method and a fortunate feature of it is that if things don't turn out according to the live-happily-ever-afterward theory he will have the judgment of quite a few to blame besides his own.

Pusillanimous Policy

There will be no rejoicing over the senate's decision to reduce all federal salaries except those of $1,000 a year by 10 per cent beginning July 1. Salary cutting isn't pleasant. Millions have suffered from it. They can sympathize with government employes last to feel the weight of depression.

In the senate last Saturday while various amendments providing for pay cuts were being considered by irritable members, Key Pittman, senator from Nevada, spoke slightingly of salary reducing to balance the budget as a "pusillanimous policy." Like others who spoke against it for one reason or another he was cheered to the echo by federal employes packed in the galleries for the occasion.

It was, to say the least, an unfortunate use of the word. The senate has recorded few votes calling for more courage and honest conviction than that one on the salary cutting amendment which finally passed. The house failed miserably in its effort to face the voting power of federal employes, barely mustering courage enough to reduce the federal payroll one-thirteenth as much as the senate recommends. Still the spirit of Senator Pittman's remark represents that of an extensive body of opinion among federal employes.

The salary reduction will lift between $11[illegible] and $119,000,000 from the unfavorable side of an unbalanced budget. It will save more than one-third the amount named in the entire economy bill. It will inflict no penalty on federal workers that other workers have not sustained. It will prove an important point furthermore. Federal employes are not the dictators of policies that concern them. Federal salary cutting is nothing about which to rejoice but neither is it unjust in view of what has been taking place for the last two years in private employment.

Some Hamilton, O., girls are reported to be considerably disappointed over the disappearance of a supposed prince who was a patient at a hospital there. Luck is with them for now they can settle down to the realization that the best material for husbands is among the home-town boys.

With two Marion county boys receiving the American farmer degree last week for their achievements it looks as though the future of agriculture in this locality is not one to be viewed with alarm.

It may be there is no law providing punishment for the man in California who kidnaped his wife and possibly it would be unnecessary and superfluous. The wife can be counted on to handle the job without statutory aid.

The fifteen heroes of the nation's first war who are now receiving the [illegible] due them represent the sturdy type of pioneer who braved the dangers and hardships of early years to make possible the advantages and conveniences of modern life that people of Marion county are enjoying today. Their part in the history of the community certainly is something to inspire pride and gratitude among those now living in the same locality.

Jimmy Walker is described as a typical New Yorker and consequently suited to his job as mayor there. At the same time the description seems to disqualify him for holding that or any other office elsewhere.

Swinging 'Round the Cycle

Class hatred must end, shouts the chief agitator of German politics. Adolf Hitler must be made the dictator of Germany, he might have added if that point had not been made clear by his actions during recent months.

Germany and the world outside Germany do no understand what lies behind President von Hindenburg's new cabinet headed by Lieutenant Colonel Franz von Papen. It can be at best no more than a weak minority government maintained by executive order.

Lieutenant Colonel von Papen, expelled from the United States by President Wilson for improper activities in military and naval matters during the World war, is a symbol of military aristocracy. It has been made plain that his cabinet, which lacks the confidence of the German people, is not expected to last longer than next fall. Obviously it cannot command the confidence of Germany's neighbors either.

There is the temptation to give up trying to understand the motives and close the incident by saying that what Germany does is Germany's business. Unfortunately that is not the case. The Treaty of Versailles and the conditions which are its basis do not allow the German people independence of action. Developments such as the Von Papen cabinet which seem to clear the way for Adolf Hitler's rise to power and an opportunity for that fiery leader to manage Germany under a strongly nationalistic program are frightening.

Governments swing 'round a cycle leading from strongly centralized control to broad control. Germany, which reached its pinnacle of power under a monarchy, is in the last stages of an experiment with popular government, judging from recent news. President Von Hindenburg, handy man of the monarchy who volunteered his services to the people, has turned to blue blood again—but no one understands why. Meanwhile Hitler shouts that class [illegible] must end. It is confusing. The demagogue, the national hero and the most restless people in the world are parts of a puzzle that defies solution.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Safety in Weight Reduction

Many a person worrying over increasing weight resorts to patent medicines and quack medicines to check the increase without taking medical advice. It never enters his mind that he should consult a physician, so he continues habits that increase his weight and takes drugs that may undermine his health.

I do not favor the rigorous dieting which I believe has become too much of a fad in recent years. There is apt to be danger in every fad. Foods that will be useful vary with each individual, hence a diet must be carefully prescribed that is exactly fitted to the given case and this can be determined only after a thorough physical examination.

Thorough study of the heart and circulation is essential to discover the conditions of these organs and thus determine whether exercise can be prescribed and how much can be taken without injury. High blood pressure calls for special attention and if the blood pressure is abnormally low, rigid dieting may be dangerous.

The urine should be analyzed and tested particularly for albumen and sugar. Let me impress upon my readers that diabetes is more frequently found in a person who is overweight than in a thin individual. In many cases blood analysis for sugar and protein waste products is important because the urine may show no sugar although there is actually an excessive amount in the blood.

Overweight may be due to a glandular disturbance and more than one gland may be involved.

A superabundance of flesh may be a sign of what the doctors call a metabolic disease and if it is due to a disturbance in metabolism it is advisable that a basal metabolic test be performed by the attending physician. This is a simple procedure giving definite and useful information and I will explain it in a later article.

After this test the condition may be properly treated by the use of certain medicines. In such a case thyroid substance may be given, but only under the supervision of a physician, for thyroid extracts are dangerous when used by inexperienced persons.

As a rule obesity is caused by excessive eating, and reducing weight by controlling the appetite is the only safe procedure. Its only drawback is that it requires time and patience. Remember that reducing several pounds a week is a dangerous fad and that many serious complications result from this practice. A loss of one pound a week is sufficient and more should not be attempted.

It is very [illegible] desirous of losing weight [illegible] consult a physician before starting to reduce. His health will not be injured and by wise direction his goal will be attained.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, June 8, 1922.

Ignoring suggestions of opponents that the federal treasury could not stand the strain and hints that President Harding would veto the measure, Senator Porter J. McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, reported the long delayed soldiers bonus bill to the senate with a recommendation for passage. The report put up to the administration a proposal that the bonus be paid from interest to be collected on British and other debts.

Judge Grant E. Mouser was formally entered for renomination to the common pleas bench in the Republican primaries Aug. 8.

In class day exercises of Harding High school at the Central Junior High auditorium an address was given by the senior class president, Virgil Shaw, with response by the junior president, Kenneth Smith. Principal B. H. Marshall announced that 175 would receive diplomas, the largest graduating class in the school's history up to that time.

It was announced that Rev. George M. Bourke, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has been asked to accept the pastorate of a church in Toledo at a large increase in salary, but that he had until September to accept and as he liked Marion and Marion people it was probable that he would remain here.

Highlights of Ohio History

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, June 8—Word from Minnesota that the big voiced Magnus Johnson, formerly United States senator, is making a bid to return to Washington as a member of congress was received with more than casual interest in the capital.

Congressmen still remember the big Minnesota Farmer-Laborite and the time he served in the senate.

If he succeeds in coming back to the next congress it will be as a member of the house and not the senate. Minnesota has had some difficulty in redistricting the state and the nine congressmen must be elected at large.

There are many candidates in the field for the nine jobs. And Magnus is one of them.

* * *

Johnson was a real sensation when he came to Washington back in 1923 to be sworn in as a senator. He was something entirely new in the senatorial scheme of things—almost an object of curiosity.

With a voice capable of disturbing the strongest ear drums and affecting a style of dress that instantly set him apart as one of the masses he was in a class by himself.

In the senate he would thunder that a farm and labor revolt was near, insisted that even an armed revolt was possible. He would bellow that what congress needed most was horse sense.

He challenged a former secretary of agriculture to a milking contest and lost. He was [illegible] by a group of Philadelphia bankers on one occasion.

With a fiery temper he believed in taking matters into his own hands when he thought he had been wronged.

* * *

Johnson served only about two years in the senate, having come up to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Knute Nelson. The blind Senator Schall defeated him in one of the bitterest campaign and election contests in senate history.

He went back to his farm near Kimball, Minnesota, and faded from the political picture.

Washington had all but forgotten him when he announced as a candidate-at-large for a seat in the house.
